Problematic Grayson Property Cleaned Up by County

Stanislaus County staff made up of teams from The Department of Environmental Resources (DER), Code Enforcement, and the Sheriff's Office spent the better part of mid-November addressing and cleaning up a problematic property on Laird St. in Grayson. Numerous code violations including unauthorized tenets & structures, illegal dumping, and improper disposal of sewage were addressed and resolved.

After hearing from the community that this site had been a continuous problem and concern, Supervisor Chanace Condit, who represents Grayson, worked with County staff, Sheriff's Department and the community to coordinate clean-up and abatement efforts.

"I'm grateful for everyone involved in this undertaking. Constituent's need to feel confident that when they reach out to the County with issues like this, we'll do everything we can to help." said Supervisor Chanace Condit. "It truly takes a team effort from County staff and the Sheriff's Department to remove 15,000 pounds of trash and make the site safe for the community."

Thanks to all those that assisted and to those in the community who reported the site. Community members assistance is vital as we work together to advocate for our communities in District 5.
