We Need You!

We cannot do this without you! The Collaborative needs your stories and experiences to understand what well being means to you and your community, and how the Collaborative can support the LGBTQA community in living open and authentic lives in Stanislaus County

What can the LGBTQA Collaborative do for me?

The Collaborative is dedicated to promoting well being in the LGBTQA community of Stanislaus County in physical and mental health, education, reducing social stigma, and affirming the LGBTQA experience in rural areas through community outreach, promoting cultural competency and developing and enriching supports and connections among partners and Allies.

The Collaborative promotes access to resources for the LGBTQA community based on individual and community needs. The Collaborative does not provide direct services to individuals. It is the goal of the Collaborative to connect community members to the appropriate supports.

Connectivity within the community, education, leadership development, and access to resources provides an opportunity for LGBTQA community members to become leaders in their community. With the support of the LGBTQA community, the Collaborative may act as the affirming voice of the LGBTQA community, empowering LGBTQA community members to enrich their lives and community.

The Collaborative may conduct leadership workshops, cultural competency trainings, know your rights presentations and community outreach to schools, community groups, organizations and agencies.

If you or your community have a need for these services or to be connected with resources, please contact XXXXX at XXXXX for additional information.
