Cal-MMET

California Multi-Jurisdictional
Methamphetamine Enforcement Team

6th Year Progress Report

November 2006 - October 2007

GOVERNOR ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER

February 29, 2008

My Fellow Californians:

The men and women of California's Multi-Jurisdictional Methamphetamine Enforcement Team (Cal-MMET) deserve a big hand for their efforts to keep our children and communities drug free.

Due to their hard work, we are making significant progress on clamping down on the illegal manufacturing and distribution of methamphetamine. Cal-MMET has proven to be an effective force to fight the proliferation of this dangerous drug.

Since the inception of Cal-MMET seven years ago, we have seen reductions in the availability, trafficking, and manufacturing of methamphetamine. These decreases can be directly attributed to the fantastic efforts of those affiliated with Cal-MMET. This is great news, but we must remain vigilant by continuing to fund this valuable resource.

As part of its mission, Cal-MMET has also focused on rescuing innocent children who fall victim to their parent's drug use. Like the domestic violence programs started in the late 1990's, Cal-MMET is structured to break the cycle of drug use in families by removing these children from parents who use illicit drugs. By taking strong action, we save the lives of countless children and boost their chances for a brighter future.

While we have accomplished much, I am confident we will make even greater strides in keeping our state drug free. I wish Cal-MMET every continued success.

Sincerely,
