Puppet Art Theater performs “The Three Little Pigs” and “The Boy Who Cried Wolf” at libraries

Puppet Art Theater will present the children’s classic, “The Three Little Pigs,” Wednesday, December 28, at 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., at the Turlock Library, 550 Minaret Ave. At 4 p.m., Wednesday they will perform “The Boy Who Cried Wolf” at the Nick W. Blom Salida Regional Library, 4835 Sisk Road. These free performances are sponsored by the Friends of the Turlock and Salida Libraries.

Under the artistic direction of Art Grueneberger, Puppet Art Theater Company presents puppet shows with humor and drama, delighting audiences of all ages.

In a puppet show adaptation of a favorite children’s story, the three pigs strike out on their own, looking for fun and adventure. But first, they must build houses for themselves. Straw, sticks, bricks, and a huffing and puffing Big Bad Wolf add up to hilarity and havoc.

“The Boy Who Cried Wolf” is an updated zany version of a classic tale. The boy is bored watching his lamb and decides to make things more exciting by turning on his dad’s wolf alarm, the “Wolf Alert 3000.” Tricking his dad is all fun and games until a real wolf shows up. Will the audience help the boy escape from the wolf? Find out in “The Boy Who Cried Wolf.”

Children will use their imaginations, learn social skills through audience participation and they will be introduced to the resources of the library. Through special children’s programs, the Stanislaus County Library fosters the love of reading and opens the door to knowledge.

For more information, please call the Turlock Library at 664-8100 and the Blom Salida Library at 543-7353.
