Multicultural Peace Bracelets for Families at the Modesto Library

Dr. Iris Haapanen, author and California State University Stanislaus Associate Professor, will teach and inspire audiences as they explore the meaning of peace through the making of multicultural bracelets at the Modesto Library on Saturday, Sept. 15 at 11 a.m. The bracelets will inspire children and adults to spread the message of peace for improving academic, social, and cultural life through their daily activities in the community and the world. The workshop will address peer pressure, lack of self-confidence, and bullying through bracelet making. This free family program aims to promote well-being and peace to participating Stanislaus county families.

For more information or to register, please contact the Modesto Library Reference Department at 558-7814.
