4. Probation Department Presentation (Presentation is attached)

CARE Manager Raul Dominguez and Data Analyst Vanessa Bravo discussed the Community Assessment Response and Engagement (CARE) initiative in Stanislaus County. CARE 1.0, launched in 2018, emphasizes daily outreach, building trust, and coordinated treatment plans. In 2021, CARE 2.0 expanded to include intensive case management for clients with mild to moderate mental health needs who do not qualify for traditional services. The team's goal is to quickly identify, assess, and connect individuals to supportive services while ensuring continuity of care through dedicated case management. Key objectives involve strengthening community trust, linking clients to mental health and substance use treatments, providing intensive support for those without formal diagnoses, and reducing distress for clients and the broader community.

The presentation also highlighted the program's success in helping high-utilizers of services achieve stability, including a client who was previously resistant to services and frequently involved with law enforcement, but later engaged in treatment and greatly reduced police contacts.

Lastly, Ms. Bravo shared a success story about Angel Martinez, who was reluctant to engage with services but eventually agreed to treatment and is now thriving.

5. District Attorney's Office CCP Presentation (The Presentation is attached)

District Attorney Jeff Lugero announced the appointment of Holly MacKinnon as the new Victim Services Program Manager. Federal cuts have made Victim Services funding unstable, but state backfills have so far allowed the county to retain all eight advocate positions. CCP funding remains essential, not only to sustain victim services but also to strengthen the attorney trainee pipeline and equip both legal and advocacy staff with the resources needed to support victims. This ensures that victims are consistently informed, supported, and able to exercise their rights.

Victim Services Unit Manager Holly MacKinnon and Victim Advocate Yvette Ramirez provided an overview of the District Attorney's Victim Services Unit, explaining how the program is funded, its purpose, core services, and the types of crime victims support both emotionally and practically. Lastly, they shared stories of two crime survivors to discuss the impact of post-conviction and victim advocacy.

6. Program Updates:

Probation Department:

Data Manager Trisha Birchard is creating customized OneDrive data sheets to align with each agency's reporting schedule, streamlining data collection and enabling trend analysis. Some agencies have successfully uploaded data, while others are facing access issues. IT is working on resolving the issue.

Division Director Michael Walker from the Probation Department reported that the Day Reporting Center (DRC) is onboarding a new domestic violence service provider, GEO Reentry Services. The Tattoo Removal program, which recently served about 52 participants, is scheduled to offer tattoo removal services on September 16, 2025, from noon to 3:30 p.m. While the program initially focused on individuals on probation, it has since expanded to serve the broader community. Lastly, he reported that the Regional Apprehension Team (RAT) operations are scheduled to resume in the upcoming weeks.

Sheriff's Office:

The detention team recently underwent several leadership changes, with all lieutenants on the detention side being reassigned for the first time in approximately five to six years.

The program area is now fully operational, offering welding, window tinting, truck driving (with three recent graduates and three new participants), and skid steer/forklift training. Currently, 34 Modesto Junior College (MJC) students are enrolled in sociology via Zoom. Lastly, the fire abatement program continues to operate effectively with goats working in areas of the county.

Public Defender's Office:

The Public Defender's Office is opening a new Drop-In Center, expected to launch at the beginning of next month. The office also welcomed its first MSW intern from Stanislaus, California State University (CSU). Three eight-week rehabilitation group classes, currently held at the Public Defender's Office, will soon move to the Day Reporting Center. These classes are led by a former lifer with lived experience, who will also begin teaching a class at REACT on Fridays.

The Public Defender's Office is seeking partnerships with other agencies interested in collaborating at the Drop-In Center, offering monthly visits, classes, or services for clients, including expungement support.

Behavioral Health and Recovery Services (BHRS):

BHRS has experienced a significant increase in the number of clients served, especially within the Adult System of Care. The rise in demand has been substantial, reflecting the department's ongoing efforts to meet community needs. This includes the CCP-funded Behavioral Health Services team, Substance Use Disorder programs, and the Day Reporting Center, which recently added an Intensive Outpatient level of care in addition to standard outpatient services.

The Reintegration Support Team continues conducting assessments and screenings for individuals who are currently incarcerated.

Additionally, participation in the specialty courts has grown; there are currently 33 clients in Drug Court and 18 in the Mental Health Treatment Court, a notable increase from previous years when participation was down to just one or two individuals.

Workforce Development:

Workforce Development through CCP funding last fiscal year supported 49 incarcerated individuals, resulting in 31 successfully placed into employment upon their jail release. Most of these placements were in entry-level or lower-paying positions that offer opportunities for career growth. The average starting wage among participants was $21 per hour.

The Prison to Employment Program, funded by the Department of Corrections, currently serves 125 clients, with 89 actively participating in vocational training or job programs. The department recently introduced apprenticeship opportunities, leading to 71 placements so far, with participants earning an average wage of $26 per hour.

Center for Human Services Agency (CHS):

CHS Director Gina Machado reported monitoring the coordinated entry list to place youth or young adults who need housing. The Youth Navigation Center has now been open for four years and has consistently hovered around the 17% mark for coordinated entry, recently dropping to 11.4%. This decline could be due to the partnerships and the opening of Jenny's Place, which created additional housing.

Leaders In Community Alternatives (LCA):

LCA continues to offer monthly forklift training, which has received strong participation and positive feedback from participants. Transportation support is also provided for vocational training, interviews, and job opportunities, with average wages between $19 and $21 per hour. A recent success story highlighted a participant who completed HVAC training and secured employment, earning $31.50 an hour, crediting the program for helping turn his life around.

Learning Quest:

Learning Quest recently partnered with Volt on the Go. They also switched to off-site computer testing instead of paper tests to reduce widespread testing anxiety among participants. In FY 24-25, Learning Quest served a total of 118 GED participants, including 21 graduates from the DRC and in-custody programs.

Nirvana:

Melissa Norvise reported that Nirvana has received 18 probation referrals since July 1, 2025, with no wait time for bed availability. The men's unit has remained nearly full since March. All probation clients in sober living since June 1, 2025, have been successful, with two currently active and four completing the program. The Department of Health Care Services recently conducted its first inspection since pre-COVID, resulting in zero deficiencies in 14 years. Additionally, Nirvana will be hosting its annual BBQ event on October 4th at Davis Park from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Stanislaus County Office of Education (SCOE):

Efforts are underway to assign a team member at SCOE who regularly works with in-custody individuals to strengthen their connections after release. The goal is to reestablish contact and provide ongoing support through programs such as the Western Pacific Truck Driving School or the Window Tint Program, offering one-day refreshers. It was noted that the collaboration between Western Pacific Truck Driving School and the Sheriff's Department is the first partnership of its kind in the state.

Stanislaus Community Services Agency (CSA):

La Tosha Walden from CSA urged decision makers to attend the CSOC monthly meetings, which focus on educating members about HUD-funded programs and compliance requirements. The meetings take place every third Thursday of the month at 2:30 p.m. at Harvest Hall.

7. Comments:

The Sheriff's Office, in partnership with Learning Quest, will be hosting "Over the Edge," a community event on October 11, 2026.

8. Next Meeting:

November 13, 2025, at 1:30 p.m.

The meeting adjourned at 2:53 p.m.

Community Assessment Response and Engagement

September 11th, 2025

Introduction

The Community Assessment Response and Engagement (CARE) team is a multidisciplinary team established in 2018, created to target unhoused, hard to reach or engage individuals who are high utilizers of emergency services. CARE 1.0 conducts and coordinates daily outreach and engagement in Stanislaus County, with the aim of building trusting relationships and coordinating individualized treatment plans for the priority population.

In 2021, CARE expanded building a second team, CARE 2.0, responsible for providing case management services for clients of the same target population with mild to moderate mental health needs, who might otherwise be ineligible for traditional case management services.

Our Mission

The mission of the CARE Team is to facilitate the expedited identification, assessment, and linkage of CARE clients to supportive services within Stanislaus County. In addition, case management staff will help broker access to services and community supports and ensure that each client is tracked throughout the entire engagement process for continuity of care.
