Probation Department Report: Assistant CPO Mike Hamasaki

ACPO Mike Hamasaki noted that the lunch provided at today's meeting was prepared by a youth in the Juvenile Commitment Facility who is enrolled in the Culinary Arts Training (CAT) program. He updated the members on the status of the following areas:

- The juvenile institutions are experiencing a low population of girls in custody with five girls in the facilities today. A violation grid is being utilized. The general population in both facilities is at 70 youth vs. 158 youth experienced in past years.
- PCO CORE classes are being taught by Probation Department staff. These sessions are attended by this department's new PCO's and the class is offered to PCO's from other counties. The first class session was inspected by the Board of State and Community Corrections (BSCC) and they highly praised this class.

Juvenile Court Report: Judge Valli Israels

Judge Israels advised she will be leaving Juvenile Court in January as she is being transferred to Family Law. Judge Ruben Villalobos will be the new delinquency court judge and Judge Ann Ameral will be the new dependency court judge.

The inspection of law enforcement facilities has been completed for Modesto Police Department and Oakdale Police Department. The Turlock Police Department will be inspected in December.
